

Our Homestory?

Why do we love this home so much, my first thought was, one page would not be enough! This property has quite a history...starting with the area's largest underground liquor still which ran a mile underground, right in front of this house! The story is on display at the nearby Reed Gold Mine Museum. (Yes you can still pan for gold there - fun!)

This is Why We Love Our House!

But what really sets this home apart is the feeling of peace whether it's the beauty of the land (and gardens) around this home or maybe it's just how you feel once you step inside. I can look out the windows forever watching all the birds dine at my feeders on the maple tree out back or smile at the blue bird that is infatuated with himself in the mirror on the light post out front.

Or just walking around our yard every spring watching everything come back to life and all the beauty and tranquility it brings. Many people have been entertained here over the years and I hear the same story over and over again...that this house invites them in and makes them feel at home...

Best,
